Assistant Professor and Clinical Education Coordinator

Master of Athletic Training

This faculty appointment is a non-tenure track position within the Department of Rehabilitation Sciences, in the School of Health Professions. Faculty responsibilities include the development of course content for graduate level professional athletic training courses as well as developing research scholarship and service to the university. The constructivist approach to didactic and clinical education is used to enhance student learning and engagement. Focus on problem-based learning and clinical reasoning is central to all student instruction. Designed, developed, and implemented a comprehensive assessment program in accordance to the Commission on Accreditation of Athletic Training Education (CAATE) standards for clinical education, interprofessional education, and interprofessional practice (standards 56-94, IPE specific 61-63)

Administrative release time granted to serve as the Clinical Education Coordinator. CEC responsibilities include recruitment of students, development of immersive clinical sites partners across the healthcare landscape within the region, state, and national clinical settings. Revise and enhance clinical preceptorship education and mentorship to preceptors, clinical assessments, case-based simulated learning experiences, with the integration of the CAATE 2020 standards for athletic training education. Responsible for coordinating clinical site affiliation agreements with the Clinical Education Support Center in the execution of contracts. Direct clinical educational using E*Value® and EXXAT® Healthcare Education Management software including the development of learning modules, case-logs, and assessment. Provided leadership to the TTUHSC-MAT Clinical Education Network by placing 41 students within one of the 60 active clinical sites (adding 16 new sites since spring 2019) and 72 preceptors in all NATA recognized practice settings.

Additional responsibilities, served as an outside reader of the TTUHSC-MAT 2018 self-study. In this capacity, as a new faculty member with previous CAATE site-visit experience, provided critical feedback on clinical education and programmatic standards in preparation for the reaccreditation site-visit in November 2018.
